Your business is hanging by its supply chain.

Test every link with Coface Supply Check

▶▶ Without reliable suppliers, you can't be a reliable supplier.

If you ever find yourself letting down a customer, it will almost certainly be because someone let you down first.

Supply disruptions damage your business and put everything you're working for at risk. When production is interrupted, your customer service suffers. Deliveries are late or missed altogether. So Coface has created Supply Check to help you avoid the financial and reputational damage disruptions can cause.

Know more, grow more

- Know every company's financial health before you place orders with them
- Know first if a regular supplier's ability to deliver has changed
- Anticipate potential supply chain interruptions while they're still avoidable

▶▶ How does Coface know so much?

Coface is one of the world's leading trade credit insurers

To assess trading risk and make precise underwriting decisions, we need up-to-the-minute information on the financial health of 80 million companies in 200 countries. This is gathered by a global network of over 400 expert analysts.

Know what we know

Our Supply Check service puts all that knowledge at your fingertips. Go into every deal with your eyes open and trade with total confidence.

We see payment incidents as they happen

As part of our everyday business, customers are informing us about problems with their suppliers in real time. That's information we can share with you at the critical moment.

Global reach

We don't just focus on individual companies. We also understand the international trading conditions in which they operate, sector by sector and country by country.

Coface it first

Before confirming any deal, check the risk level using our array of advanced business tools:

- Debtor Risk Assessment. Our authoritative DRAs tell you how likely any company anywhere in the world is to default.
- Personalised Notices detail the amount of cover we recommend for each company, based on its trading history and prospects. Management problems and financial health, plus sector and country risk are rated on a simple 0 to 10 scale.
- Information Reports. A comprehensive report on any company's financial health is yours for the asking. Reports on countries, regions and sectors are also an integral part of the Coface service. Each report is clearly structured and laid out for speed and ease of reference.
